EDITORIAL FLINGS

What has become of the old-fashioned Paris man who used to wear a necktie with a red rose painted on it?

The reason why some Paris men do not speak to their wives oftener is that they do not like to interrupt them.

The Paris boy who tries to slip through life in the easiest way wonders why it is that he hits only the rough spots.

Here's a splendid beauty secret for a whole bunch of Paris people we happen to know—keeping your nose out of other people's business prevents it from getting flattened.

The merchant who charges too much for the goods he sells is not the only profiteer. A worse one is the man who accepts the good that life brings without any effort to let the other men share in it.

There was a man who fancied By driving good and fast.
He would get his car Across the track
Before the train got past.
He would miss the engine by an inch,
He would make the train crew sore,
There was a man who fancied this—
He isn't any more.

There is no glory in this short life quite equal to that which comes to the heart that has suffered with the sufferings of others, and caught its music and its laughter out of the rainbows that shine above the tears of human sympathy.

As to talking Pultarch said: "The talkative listen to none for they are ever speaking. And the first evil that attends those who know not how to be silent is that they hear nothing." And another wise man in some stage of the world's history has said: "Those who have little business to attend to are great talkers. The less men think the more they talk." And another has said: "Great talkers are like leaky vessels, everything runs out of them."

This is a Paris housekeepers' plaint, after spending the day making preparations for entertaining "company" the day following: "I have stood all day By the kitchen range Making preserves and jam I feel as cross as a dog With the mangle And nobody cares a d—m."

They were talking about things in general, as a bunch of men (and a few women) will occasionally do. They talked about almost everything from peanuts to politics, and finally came around to the subject of dogs. The conversation took on several degrees of interest. Finally, one of the dog-lovers summed up all there is of wisdom concerning dogs, when he said, solemnly: "Well, men, the fellow that doesn't like dogs is like an auto that has been put in the shop for repairs—he hasn't been put together right."

DYE MIND THE TIME

When These Things Happened In Paris, As Told In THE NEWS' Files!

DAYS OF AULD LANG SYNE

There's no denying that to most of us there is a certain satisfaction in reviewing the events of long ago, as they are presented to us, either casually or by force of some reminiscent strain of the moment. And to those who lived here in the long ago the recalling of events in the old days of Paris affords a peculiar satisfaction all its own. They, perhaps, more than we who have grown used to the old place, will appreciate these items, taken at random from a copy of THE BOURBON NEWS of Friday, April 14, 1922:

Johnnie Martin, a popular conductor on the K. C. road, has associated himself with Mr. King, of Maysville, in the grocery business. Their grocery is located on the corner near the depot. Conductor Martin will still remain at his post on the road.

Richmond and McElreth's Dramatic Company gave their first of a series of entertainments in the Odd Fellows Hall on Monday night, to a delighted audience. The play introduced was Hazel Kirke, which created so much excitement in the musical circles in the large cities last season.

There are but 65 horses in the Union that have trotted in better than 2:20. Thirty-four of them are gelding, twenty mares, and eleven stallions. Six of the eleven stallions and eight of the twenty mares were bred in Kentucky—one of the mares being "Croixie," formerly a Millersburg mare, and the property of Frank Champ.

We do not approve of the egotistical style of Kentucky journalists generally, in publishing compliments, but we cannot very well refrain from remarking that a Georgia lady (Mrs. W. G. Monk), writes to her brother-in-law, that she reads THE BOURBON-NEWS 'mid smiles and tears, and that she truly realizes the poet's dream of enchantment. It is not necessary to remark that she has resolved to never let her subscription expire.

The Saturday night freight train on the K. C. R. R. has been abandoned and the train now leaves Covington on Sunday night. The cause of the change is that the train runs through to Mt. Sterling and does not arrive there until nearly noon and it would be running too much on Sunday to run through.

Ben Huffman, a well-known blacksmith, of Centerville, eloped with Miss Sallie Current, a daughter of Thos. Current, and passed through this place and went to Aberdeen last week. The young lady was to have been married to James L. Pearson, a young lawyer, from Rutledge, Tenn., and she left him in the parlor when she eloped. The old folks were much incensed at the action of their daughter.

The severe drouth has injured many trees, as shown by the premature decay and falling of the leaves. Roots near the surface have been literally parched.

Among other effects of the drouth, milk and butter have rapidly increased in price. There is no pasture worth speaking of, and in almost all localities it has been difficult to find enough water for stock.

Having two hours to loaf in Covington last week, we put in the time with our old Bourbon friends, Tobe Mitchell and Sam Dobbins, proprietors of the "Arlington House," (formerly the Clinton Hotel) on Madison street. These gentlemen have a popular trade, and know exactly how to run a hotel on first-class principles, without extorting on the public.

James Swain, T. P., which meant teacher of penmanship, who was born and raised in this city, but who has been absent several years, is in attendance at the fair and visiting his old friends.

The only good and cheap way to break a drouth, is to have Baptist Associations in every county where the drouths exist. One at Berry's Station last week caused a good rain storm all along the line of railroad from Covington to Lexington, and one at Sharpsburg, also got in its work nobly. Give us Baptist Associations, with a little liberty, and all other needful things will be added unto us.

From copy of THE BOURBON NEWS of Wednesday, October 26, 1921:

Dick Estep has taken charge of his old freight train again.

Harry James is going to open a saloon just above John Stoker's.

The grand jury has permitted the boys to return from fishing.

Father Barry will lecture Saturday night at the court house, on "The Moon and Stars."

From indications, we are going to have a regular old liquor election on November 5th.

B. F. Remington, Geo. Judy and John Northcutt are representing our Odd Fellows, at Louisville.

Craddock has returned home to fuss around a day or two, and will then leave for God knows where.

John Hanley has engaged himself to travel for the Osborne-Twine-Binder-Machine works, of New York.

Dr. Adair will sell his residence here at public sale on Saturday, and will make his permanent home in Mt. Sterling.

Tom Davis, of the firm of Davis & Son, undertakers and furniture dealers, died last Thursday night, after a brief illness.

Mrs. McChesney is doing the double-headed pencil flourishing on the Citizen, in absence of her husband. She speaks of tumbling the type out of his drawers and appropriating the same for her own use—to fill them with needles, pins, thumbtacks, &c.

Frank Champ sold last week, 45 pigs weighing from 15 to 30 pounds, for 30 cents each. They were of the thin and hungry species of hogs which could turn and go side-ways through a crack like a butcher's knife, and could destroy $50 worth of corn per day.

The following cases have been disposed of by Circuit Court now in session:

John Henderson, unlawful shooting, $10; Dan Roche, tipping house, $60; Jake Schwartz, selling liquor to minors, $60; Dennis Winn, murder, continued and bailed for $500. Mrs. Mag Moreland, accessory, bailed for $3,000; Frank Fields, vagrancy, sold for six months; Cases against Tom Bashford, concealed weapons, Jas. Batterton, liquor to minors, Jake Schwartz, same, Dan Roche, same. Frank O'Brien, two cases, continued.

The grand jury indicted the distilleries of G. G. White, Sam Clay and Ford & Bowen, for running slop into the creek. It also found ten other indictments, for various misdemeanors. It's work was small.

Anybody desiring to exchange a first-class reversible overcoat for a good linen duster, can be accommodated, by calling at this office. Now John Hite, of the Kentuckian, will be mad.

CORROBORATION

Of Interest to Paris Readers.

For months Paris citizens have seen in these columns enthusiastic praise of Doan's Kidney Pills by Paris residents. Would these prominent people recommend a remedy that had not proven reliable? Would they confirm their statements after years had elapsed if personal experience had not shown the remedy to be worthy of endorsement? The following statement should carry conviction to the mind of every Paris reader.

Mrs. John Mastin, 1439 High street, Paris, says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills with good results. I had a dull aching across the small of my back and my kidneys acted irregularly. The use of Doan's Kidney Pills rid me of these complaints and I have faith enough in them that should I ever need a kidney remedy again I would certainly use Doan's Kidney Pills."

Mrs. Mastin gave the above statement November 9, 1916, and on November 13, 1920, she added: "I still have the same good opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills as when I endorsed them before. I use them occasionally when I require a kidney tonic and they never fail to do me good."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Mastin had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

1,500 MEMBERS ADDED TO BURLEY POOL

Probably 1,500 new members were added by the Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association the past week, 1,050 contracts having been received at the offices of the field service division and many of the workers not having sent in their contracts. The start for the goal of 5,000 new members before the close of the books, November 6, was made with enthusiasm in many counties of the Burley belt, it was reported at headquarters, and officials of the association have no doubt that the total membership will be 75,000 before the date for the closing of the books for the year.

Director Reuben F. Offutt spoke to a large crowd of growers at Dry Ridge, Grant county, Saturday, telling them of the progress of the association so far, of the amount of tobacco sold, and of the ease with which all of it could have been disposed of to speculators, had the association desired to market it that way. He declared, however, that the officials of the association intended to merchandise the crop, not to sell it to others who would make an additional profit before it got to the manufacturers, and that the growers of tobacco henceforth would get whatever profit might be made out of their crops by their selling organization.

J. Sherman Porter, editor of the Burley Tobacco Grower, returned from Indiana, where he addressed a large crowd of Harrison county growers at Mauckport, Friday night. He said that many growers in Harrison had signed the past week and that workers there were seeing every farmer with satisfactory results.

Oh, if only the fisherman's yarn could be turned into knit socks!

LESSON FOR OCTOBER 22

JESUS TEMPTED

LESSON TEXT—Luke 4:1-12.
GOLDEN TEXT—For in that He Himself hath suffered being tempted, He is able to succor them that are tempted.—Heb. 2:18.

REFERENCE MATERIAL—Phil. 2:5-11; Heb. 2:14-18; 4:14-16.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Overcomes Temptation.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus Tempted to Do Wrong.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Overcoming Temptation.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—What Christ's Victory Means to Us.

I. The Place of (v. 1).

The wilderness of Judea. The first man, Adam, was tempted in a garden with the most pleasant surroundings. The second man, Jesus Christ, was tempted in a barren wilderness surrounded by wild beasts (Mark 1:13).

II. The Purpose of (v. 1). He was led into a wilderness by the Spirit. Christ's temptation was Messianic. Though He was "tempted in all points like as we are," we are not tempted as He was in this instance, but the same methods are employed on us. During the eighteen years of retirement Satan surely tempted Christ as he tempts us. Satan, no doubt, would have gladly escaped this hour, but the time had come for the Redeemer to enter upon His mediatorial work; therefore He went from the place of anointing and heavenly recognition as the Son of God to meet and despoil the arch enemy (Heb. 2:4).

1. It was not a preparation for His work, but rather its first conflict. In baptism we have the symbolic act of dedication of himself to the work of redemption through the cross—the making full a righteousness. In the temptation, the strong man is spoiling the enemy.

2. It was not to see if Christ would stand fast—would fall under the most crucial test. Christ could not fail. To so postulate would make God's scheme of redemption to have been unsettled until after this temptation, and would have made God guilty of setting forth a scheme of redemption on the basis of a possible overthrow.

3. It was to show Christ as an object upon which we may rest our faith with unshaken confidence. He came as the second Man, the head of a new race, its very source and life. It was a demonstration of the inseparableness of the divine and human natures in the incarnation.

III. The Method of (vv. 2-12).

Christ as the world's Redeemer sustained a threefold relation—Son of Man; Son of God; and Messiah, therefore Satan made each one a ground of attack.

1. As Son of Man (vv. 2-4). Satan made his first assault upon Him as a man by appealing to the instinct of hunger. Satan urged Him to use His divine power and convert a stone into bread. Hunger is natural and sinless. The temptation was in satisfying a right hunger in a wrong way. To have yielded in this case would have been to renounce the human limitations which He had taken for our sakes. To use divine power to satisfy human needs would have been to fail as Saviour and Redeemer.

2. As Messiah (vv. 5-8). Here the temptation was to grasp His rightful dominion by false means. The devil offered to surrender unto Him the world if He would worship him. The force of this temptation was in the fact that the kingdoms of the world are Christ's by God's covenant with Him. God's method by which Jesus was to possess the world was the cross. The temptation Satan is pressing upon the church today is to get possession of the world by other means than the cross.

3. As Son of God (vv. 9-12). Here Satan tries to induce Christ to presume upon God's care. He quotes a Messianic Psalm to induce Him to so act. To do the spectacular thing in order to get notice is to fall into Satan's temptation. For Jesus to have placed himself in danger in order to get God's special help in delivering Him would have been to sin. To put one's self in moral and spiritual peril in order to test God's faithfulness is to sin. Satan is never quite so dangerous as when he quotes Scripture.

IV. Christ's Defense (vv. 4, 8, 12). It was the Word of God. He met and repulsed the enemy with "It is written." Our defense is God's Word. May every Sunday school teacher know how to use it!

V. The Issue (v. 13). Satan is vanquished. If we will but trust God and use His Word we too can overcome.

Superior and Inferior.

You may fail to shine in the opinion of others, both in your conversation and actions, from being superior, as well as inferior to them.—Greville.

Faith.

Now faith is the substance of things to be hoped for, the evidence of things that appear not.—Hebrews 2:1.

The Lord's Day.

Ye shall keep my Sabbaths and reverence my sanctuary; I am the Lord.—Leviticus 19:30.

FIVE CHILDREN, 5 EYES

In a fiddlers' contest, at Glasgow, Ky., two sons of William Crawford Turner, of Emberton, were contestants, both blind. Of five children born to Mr. and Mrs. Turner, two were born blind, one with only one eye and two with normal eyes, making five eyes for five children. All have shown extraordinary talents.
